TWO PROFESSORS TO ADDRESS
FLATHEAD LAKERS GROUP
JULY 13 IN POLSON

MISSOULA---

The director and assistant director of the University of Montana Biological Station at Yellow Bay on Flathead Lake will address the Flathead Lakers Association (FLA) Saturday (July 13) in Polson.

Speaking at 10 a.m. at the Polson Elks Club will be Dr. Richard A. Solberg, UM botany professor and Biological Station director, and Dr. Arden R. Gaufin, professor of zoology and assistant director of the station.

John Schile of Missoula, FLA director, said the two men will discuss the research work being done on Flathead Lake in an extensive program centered at the Yellow Bay laboratories.

Dr. Solberg said the FLA has provided a $1,300 research grant to the Biological Station to be used for supplies, equipment and personnel to study Flathead Lake, with special reference to pollution.

The FLA is^a conservation-oriented group. Most FLA members are residents or property owners of the Flathead Lake area.

Dr. Solberg and Dr. Gaufin also will address a group of 35 personnel of the State Fish and Game Department Friday afternoon (July 12) during a conference at Yellow Bay. The two professors will discuss aquatic biological research now under way at the Biological Station.
